5 Reasons Why Your Office Needs Elo

1. Boosts Efficiency

With Elo installed outside your meeting rooms, your team can streamline planning and communication inside the office. Whether it's being able to easily see what conference rooms are available, scheduling meeting rooms on the fly or checking in for a meeting, Elo solutions enable offices to allocate resources and shorten the time it takes organizing and starting meetings.

2. Reallocates Labor

With Elo touchscreens in your lobby, you'll be able to welcome visitors and empower them to check in with a simple touch, alerting the appropriate person to come out to greet them. It frees up their administrative time, so more time can be dedicated to accomplishing tasks that make or save the company money.

3. Simplifies Your Technology

With Elo, you can say goodbye to the messy cables, confusing plug-ins and setups for screensharing in conference rooms. No more calling tech support each time your visitor wants to give a presentation. Got an Internet connection? Elo computer module loaded with Display-Note's Montage software enables wireless meeting collaboration by simply typing in a URL to immediately connect to the touchscreen.

4. One Invoice, One Support

Your IT team already knows Elo's technology from its consumer-facing screens in retail and hospitality. Now, they can eliminate the learning curve needed to onboard new vendors and technology for internal use cases! The architecture, tools and technology are seamless and operate just as it they do for customer-facing environments. No more hassle in dealing with multiple vendors for multiple technology uses. Elo is your technology one-stop shop.

5. Software Agnostic

With Elo, you get simple, durable and low-maintenance hardware and a platform that works with any software, giving you complete freedom, especially when choosing among the many software programs and apps for conference room scheduling and video conferencing ensuring flexibility for your organization you grow. Need help identifying the right software solution for your employees? Our expert team can help connect you with our ecosystem of trusted partners!

Envision a seamless corporate journey, one that starts when a visitor checks in via virtual receptionist, continues with interactive wayfinding to their meeting point, and concludes with stress-free collaboration inside a meeting room. Elo is there at all touchpoints, communicating your brand's messages, streamlining efficiencies, simplifying work and saving time for everyone from the IT team to employees and guests.

After all, Elo enhances every aspect of the business, both on the consumer side and on the employee side with a powerful unified architecture and configurable solutions to fit your environment.
